The John Bunyan, from Dublin, was at anchor at the presentative or his orother, who was slieged to be the true owner of all the property apparently belonging to Smyth.

The present application was grounded upon several letters received by Mr. Cook Brandon from his brother Thomas, wherein the former was directed by the latter to proceed at once to the late Mr. Smyth's place of business, and take charge of the property, the whole of which Mr. Thomas Brandon claimed to be his. On the other hand Mr. Rickards produced a letter from Mr. Thomas Brandon, empowering him to act as a frustee for the disposal of the property, conjointly with Mr. Cock Brandon and a third party. It further appeared that there was good reason to anticipate that fall and complete instructions might be expected by the December steamer. Under these circumstances the matter was directed to standover for a fortnight, with liberty for either party to file fresh sfi favits.

FRENCH TRANSLATIONS. — Most of the Paris journals, in their translations of the reports of the duel at Egham, have made an extraordinary blunder—that of confounding the "percussion cap" of a pistol with the "cap, or "hat" of dress. Thus we read—"Avant le duel, les parties convincent que les coope partie dans les habits ne compteraient pas; "which is literally, "Before the duel, the parties agreed that shots entering the clothes should not count;" whereas the words in the original wave—"It was agreed that the mapping of one (in French, I clust shore capsule) should not count in a shot." Age n—" Joue deux firest fem; le chapeau de Barthélemy fut touché; if on mit un neuf, qui fut touché amoi; that is ligerally—"Both firet; the hat of Barthélemy was hit; he put on on a new hat, which was also hit." The English was—"Both fired. The cap (in French, le capsule) of M. Barthélemy's pintol only explected; he put on a freshes, which also anapped." John Russell and another, ironfounders. The prisoner pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour in Sydney Geol six calendar months.

Charles Johnson was indicted for stealing some aliver money, the property of William Mackement. The prisoner pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour in Parramatta Geol for six calendar months. to hard labour in calcular months.

Samuel Bowen was indicted forestealing 10s., the property of Dr. John Silver. The prisoner pleaded guitty, and was sentenced, in consequence of his youth (being quite a boy) to the leafest punishment of 7 days' solitary confinement in Sydney gaol.

BROOMFIELD e, MILER AND OTHERS.

This was a rule nisi for a prohibition to restrain Messrs. T. G. Miller and A. T. P. former was held sufficient.

Mr. Fostka appeared to support the rule.
The conviction was not supported by counsel.
Broomfield was avowedly convicted under the 67th clause of the Publican's Act. Being himself a publican at Sofala, he had sold some gin to another publican at Tambaroora, and the spirits were seised in transits. There had been no offer to sell the spirits in retail, nor was this alleged, the charge being merely that Broomfield had sent the spirits for sale at Tam-baroora

(Horse Straling)

James Martin, anias Scotchy, late of Bungawan, labourer, was indicted for that he, being armed with a pistol, at Bungawan, did on the 30th November last, one horse and one gedding of the goods and chait Is of Herbert Castleman J. ffries, feloniously and violently did steal, take, and carry away. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended. From the evidence of Mr. Herbert Castleman J. ffries, it appeared that on the day laid in the information he was riding near Bugawana, when he met the prisoner, who was on horseback, and armed with a revolver, prisoner presented the pistolat me, and said damount from that horse; I looked at him, and ke repeated the order to dismount; I did so, and he then said, what, don't you know me; I then looked at him and recognized him as an old servant of mine named James Martin; he then ordered me to take off the asddle, which I did; he then mounted my horse, and said I have a b-1-y good mind to shoot you; he then rode away, and I went to my station, and on the following morning I pursued, and overtook the prisoner at Mr. Sherwin's station on the Murray River, about 20 miles distant; I again desired him to give up the horse, but he refused, and swore he would shoot any man who came near him; he then rode on to Albury, where I followed him, and the next day he was arrested by the Chief Constable, at albury upon a warrant I had obtained. Dennis Heada'y, con-table, proved that he arrested the prisoner at Albury on the lst of December last, in M'Kay's public-house, by order of the Chief Constable, on a charge of horse-teahing; when arrested prisoner to the watch-house he ran away, and in crossing a creek he stumbled and fell; witness then c

The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended.

Richard Brickwood, being sworn and examined, stated that he was a gold digger at Major's Creek, that he had a sum of £2 16s. in his tent, in a small calico bag; that the money was all right at dinner time, but in the evening, when he went to the bag to get some money, he found it had been taken from the pocket of the trousers where he kept it. Prisoner was then walking in front of the tent with another man. Shortly after he began to wrestle with this man, and I saw my bag strings from under his shirt. I then saked him for my money, and he said that he would give it to me it I would say nothing about it; he then returned it to me all but 11s. 6d., which he said he would get me from Mr. Manning. We went together to Mr. Manning's tent, and he said that he would have no felonies committed there, and sent the prisoner in charge to the Commissioner, Mr. King, by whom he was committed for trial. The deposition of William Dunsmore, a witness who did since the larseny was committed, being send in evidence, fully confirmed the statement of the first witness. Brickwood. It further appeared that it was Dunsmore who was wrestling with the prisoner when the money and the bag fell from his shirt. Prisoner in his defence stated that the money was his own. His Hones summed up, when the Jury after a brief consultation, returned a verdict of guilty.

Michael Byrne, late of Foxlow, in the colony of New South Wales, labourer, was indicated for maliciously and feloniously cutting and wounding one Robert M'Dowall, at Foxlow, in the colony aforesaid, on the 18th of September. 1852, with intenst to Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended.

The evidence against the prisoner in this case was entirely circumstantial. Mr. John Thompson, being called and sworn, stated that he was Superintendent for Mr. John Hoaking, at Foxlow; that the prisoner and Mr. Dowall were shepherds in the employment of Hoaking at Foxlow, that they lived in the same hut on the station; that they lived in the same hut on the station; that they prisoner came to witness on the 14th of September last, stating that his time was up, and that he wished for a settlement. Witness said that he wished for a settlement. Hitness said that he would go to the station the nost day and take his sheep from him; he accordingly went there, and on going to prisoner's hut found no one there and the door shut and secured with a piece of rops. Witness forced the door, and on entering found Mr. Dowall lying on the ground menty saked, and almost covered with blood. He was insensible, and could not answer me. I saw several deep cuts always took his breakfast and supper with the prisoner, and never had any dispute with him; heard the prisoner say he wished to leave the station as his time was up.

Saw Yang, a Chinese, being sworn according to the custom of his country, by breaking a saucer over his head, stated (through a sworn interpreter) that the evening before M'Dowall was beaten he heard prisoner and M'Dowall talking in an angry manner in the hut; that on the night M'Dowall was injured prisoner came to his watch-box and remained for a short time, and asked witness to sm-ke, which witness refused to do.

This closed the case for the Crown, when the prisoner, being called upon for his defence, said that he was innocent, and knew nothing at all about it.

said that he was innocent, and knew nothing at all about it.

His Honoic, having summed up at some length, and with great care and perspicuity, the jury retired for about twenty minutes, when they brought in a verdict of not guilty, when the prisoner was discharged.

UTTRING A PORGED CHEGUE.

George Frazer, alias Jan.es Brown, late of Buchanan, in the colony of New South Wales, labourer, was indicted, for that he on the 8th of January. 1851, did offer, utter, dispose of, and put off a certain forged order, purporting t, be of the value of £3 10s., with intent to defraud one Janet Mather.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty and was undefended.

Janet Mather, being sworn and examined.

his Goose the case for the Crown, when his Honor asked the Attorney-General what evidence he relied on to prove guitty knowledge at the time of uttering?

The ATTORNEY-GENERAL relied on the prisoner's statement to Mrs. Mather, "that it was all right; that it was Messrs. Hyland's cheque."

His Hoxon in summing up, told the Jury that in order to make out the charge of uttering with intent to defraud, it must be shown that the prisoner at the time he uttered the cheque, knew it was a forgery; and His Honor observed that he could not discover any evidence offered in this case sufficient to prove guilty knowledge on the part of the prisoner; presumption would not be sufficient guilty knowledge must be shown by facts and circumstances. The Jury, without leaving the box, returned a verdict of not guilty. HORSE STEALING.

HORSE STEALING.

George Fraser was again placed at the bar, and indicted for s'ealing a horse at the Tuena on the 20th of September last, of the goods and chattels of one William O'Neil.

The pisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended.

From the evidence of the prosecutor, William O'Neil, it appeared that he was a gold digger at the Tuena; that he put his horse in a paddock in the latter end of September last, and on the following morning found that he was gone; about two months after he was lost, witness saw him at the Police Office in Goulburn; the horse was branded W-N, and prosecutor has reared him from a foal.

On cross-examination by the prisoner, prosecutor said he did not charge prisoner with stealing his horse, but that he never sold him to any one.

Sir.—We, the undersigned inhabitants of the Canter-bury Settlement, having learnt with deep regret that your departure, which we had hoped in have been long deferred, is about to take place, desire the how the been the word of the beautiful of the many and important services, both public and private, which you have rendered to the settlement during your residence amongst us from the time of its foun-dation.

George Frazer, alias Jances Brown, late of Buchanan, in the colony of New South Wales, labourer, was indicted, for that he on the 8th of January, 1851, did offer, utter, dispose of and put off a certain forged order, purporting to be of the value of £3 10s., with intent to defraud one Janet Mather.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty and was undefended.

Janet Mather, being sworn and examined, proved that her husbant kept a public house, at Buchanan in January, 1851; that prisoner called at her house, and remained for a few days, and then tendered her the cheque in question; the cheque now shown me is the same; it purports to be drawn by T. and L. Hyland on the Commercial Bank of Sydney for £3 10s.

Alexander Mather sworn and examined: Proved that he received the cheque now produced from his wife, at Buchanan, in January, 1851; did not see the prisoner there; knew T and J. Hyland, ani believed that the cheque was all right.

Thomas Hyland, sworn and examined: Was in partnership with his brother Luke-some time ago; that partnership was dissolved previous to January, 1851; the cheque produced is not in my handwriting.

Luke Hyland, sworn and examined: Is brother to be last witness; was in pattnership with him, but the partnership was dissolved about three years ago; the cheque shown me is a forger; I never signed it, nor is it in my brother's handwriting.

respect with which we now bid you farewell.

After the reading of the Address, which was received with loud expressions of approbation, the Chairman called upon the ladies and gentlemen there assembled to prove, by the manner in which they would receive the toast he was about to propose, how entirely they concurred with him in the sentiments he had expressed to their departing guests. He then proposed "the health of Mr. and Mrs. Godley, and might health, happiness, and every blessing, ever attend then." He begged that this toast might be drunk with nine times nine, and sas many more cheers as they chose to give.

George Frasor was again placed at the bar, and indicted for a realing a horse at the Tuena on the 20th of September last, of the goods and chattels of one William O'Neil.

The pisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended.

From the evidence of the prosecutor, William O'Neil, it appeared that he was a gold digger at the Tuena; that he put his horse in a paddock in the latter end of September last, and on the following morning found that he was gone; about two months after he was lost, witness saw him at the Police Office in Goulburn; the horse was branded W-N, and prosecutor has reared him from a foal.

On cross-examination by the prisoner, prosecutor said he did not charge prisoner with stealing his horse, but that he never sold him to any one.

Michael Kelly, formerly a constable in the Goulburn police, proved that he arrested the prisoner in Goulburn, on a charge of horsestealing.

John M'Alister, Chief Constable at Goulburn, proved that he saw the prisoner in the lock-up at Goulburn; that he saked the prisoner where he got the horse, and he said at the Turon, and that he had had him upwards of twelve months.

Prisoner in his defence stated that he got the horse in exchange for another at the Turon, and that he had had him upwards of twelve months.

Prisoner in his defence stated that he got the horse in exchange for another at the Turon some time ago, and gave £5 for the exchange.

His Honon summed up, and the Jury having consulted for a lew minutes returned a verdict of guilty.

Bentenced to be worked on the roads or other mublic works of the colony for the term of the september last, and on the fillow prisoner with a head to encounter difficulties sponsibility of the management of the softs and proved that he saked the prisoner in the lock-up at Goulburn; that he saked the prisoner in the lock-up at Goulburn; the horse and he said at the Turon, and that he had had him upwards of twelve months.

Prisoner in his defence stated that he got the horse in exchange.

His Honon summed up, and the Jury having con plexities which could scarcely be conceived by others. He was anxious to take this opportunity of expressing his grateful acknowledgments to those gentlemen who had been engaged in conjunction with him in administering the colonial affairs of the Canterbury Association. From their exertions he had, in fact, derived a great deal of credit which properly belonged to them. He had rarely had occasion to find any fault, and he was gratified to reflect that, with one painful exception, he had never had occasion to dismiss any of the servants of the Association, nor to use an angry word. On the whole.

and he was gratified to reflect that, with one painful exception, he had never had occasion to dismiss any of the servants of the Association, nor to use an angry word. On the whole, looking back upon the history of the senterprise in which they had been engaged, he maintained that it had been engaged, he maintained that it had been engaged, he maintained that it had been successfully carried out. (Cheers.) A magnificent colony was in embryo, certain to prosper in a material point of view, contraining within their as much of the elements of high civilization as, he now believed, it was possible to plant in a new country,—a more concentrated population, a larger proportion of resident proprietors, and consequently a greater e-mmand over the appliances of civilities of society than had been very general, and he believed there were few men were unable to look forward to an ultimate and certain competence. There had indeed been instances were caused entirely by people expecting impossibilities. In these expectations he had himself to some extent shared. No man in this world could go through any enterprise that had greatness in it without being often and sorely disappointed, because nothing great was ever done without enthusiasm, and enthusiasm were always over annuirs. (Cheers.) When he first adopted the idea of this colony, it pictured itself to his mind in the colours of an Utopia; but now that he had been a practical coloniser, and had seen how these things were managed in fact, he often smiled at the ideal Canterbury of which he had once dreamed. But he saw nothing in the dream to regret or be ashamed of. (Cheers.) TENHMENT ACT. —A novel case was heard yesterday before Mr. Dowling and Mr. Arkins. Some months ago Mr. Hebblewhite let to one Donnelly a tenement in Park-atreet for the period of three months; the term expires, Donnelly goes out, but by some means or other not explained one Cornelius O'Reilly obtains possession and refuses to give it up; Hebblewhite did not acknowledge O'Reilly as tenant, nor, in turn, did O'Reilly admit the other to be the owner. Proceedings are taken under the Tenement Act, no defandant appears —the case is heard exparte, and an order made for a warrant to issue in twenty-four hours.

By Rerett Roberty — About two o'clock yesterday morning. Constable Rowles, on duty in George-atreet, caught a man named Stephenson in the ase of rifling the pockets of Michael Shen, itinerant flatmonger, who, having taken too much grog, lay down to sleep it off. Stephenson had 55a, in eliver in his hand at the time of his apprehension. Shea also we taken into custody for drunkenness. Both parties appeared before the Bench yesterday. These said that the last time he had any recollection of himself on Tursday night, he had about 40a, in his possession; when he are to in the methouse; had no recollection of having seen the prisoner before. The constable's evidente, however, was conclusive against the prisoner, and he was conclusive against the him several servants under contract to serve him here for a period, at rates therein set forth Among others was one Ann Keiss, who, at London, on the 21st July, agreed to serve if the rate of £5 per smuum, wages not to secrue, (although she entered the service at once) until Rovember, by which time it was estimated the voyage would be completed. Sudden Brath — On Monday morning last, as Mr. Edward Fuller was on his way from his residence at Castle Hill to Parramatta, he was accosted by Mr. Crane, a neighbour, with the compliment of the morning, and, "how do you find yourself?" Mr. Fuller replied in a satisfactory way, and during the conversation was taken with a fit of coughing, when he burst a blood vessel. A person standing by jurped into the cart in which Mr. Fuller was and supported him; but he expired in a supported him; but he expired in a minutes. A PUBLIC MERTING On the subject of supplying the town of Parramatta with pure water was had in the Court House, on Monday evening last, agreeable to advertisement. Mr. G. Oakes, M.C., was celled to the chair, and, after explaining the object of the meeting, requested that each speaker should be allowed a patient hearing. Mr. Hugh Taylor got on the bench, and after adverting to the flithy state of the water at present awallowed by the inhabitants of Parramatta, declaimed against three of the five members of the Water Committee, stating also that he had a petition to the Governer-General upon the subject of the grievances of the people, and praying for relief. He then requested the chairman to read it for him. The speaker afterwards moved the adoption of the petition. He said, Mr. James Pye had fought well for the people's rights in trying to bring the water into the town, and he deserved the thanks of the community. Mr. Taylor was procreding with much warrath to show how the other persons had not done so much as himself, when Mr. Brown rose to order, and the chairman requested Mr. T. to be less personal in his remarks and confine himself to the subject before the meeting. Mr. Smith was then called upon to second the resolution. Mr. Shackles spoke of the great necessity of pure water - of the unblemished integrity, skill, and uprightness of the gentlemen composing the water committee and of the impossibility of their having equandered away the money as set forth in the petition. Mr. Forbes rose and said he could hardly suppose it fair for them to meet for the water committee, especially as Mr. Byrnes, their fellow-townsman, an influential member of society, and a respectable man, was absect, and ought water committee, especially as Mr. Byrnes, their fellow-townsman, an influential member of society, and a respectable man, was absent, and ought to have so opportunity of explaining. He could not agree with the petition, but would rather propose an adjournment. Mr. Staff remarked, that he considered the shortness of the notice of the matter was an injustice to the gentle-that he considered the shortness of the notice of the meeting was an injustice to the gentlemen in the district, who could not possibly be aware that the meeting was to be held, althought many had a right to be present, seeing that the money was voted to supply the town and district with water. He (Mr. S.) would therefore support Mr. Forbes' proposition for an adjournment, for the purpose also of drawing up something else for the adoption of the meeting. Mr. Brown proposed a second amendment to the effect, "that a committee of gentlemen should be formed for the purpose of preparing resolutions, to be committee of gentlemen should be formed for the purpose of preparing resolutions, to be submitted to an adjourned menting to be held on Monday evening next." Mr. Forbes then withdrew his motion in favour of Mr. Brown's, which was seconded by Mr. Ryan, who said that the petition submitted was that of one man, and not that of the people. Mr. Pye supported the amendment, which was put to the meeting, and carried. The meeting, which was then adjourned till Monday evening next.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning H erald, GENTLEMEN,—For the last ten days there has appeared in your columns an advertisement signed "A," requiring a clerk for a country store, which I have twice an wered without obtaining any kind of reply, although particu-larly requesting one in the affirmative or other-wise.

larly requesting one in the affirmative or otherwise.

I have done so to other parties thus advertising, and been served in the same manner; but as to this particular advertisement, others as well as myself have been thus shamefully trated, wasting their time, and entertaining hope likewise of obtaining a reply to their saveral applications, buoying up their anticleptions to no purpose. In fact, many of such advertisements are, I am quite convinced, regular awin lies, done probably merely to satisfy the dirty whim of some countershipper or other person similarly engaged, who, taking advantage of the numerous young men at present out of employment, is desirous of silling up his spars time by a perusal of the many applications which are no doubt made to sack advert sements. It is degrading, Genumen, that such should be allowed to contaminate the daily paper, yours especially, and I hope by your kind insertion of this, that such latany will not be practised in fature.

The advantages of the dry and equal temperature of Brisbane to invalids, and particularly to parties labouring under consumption, or other disease of the lungs, have become so much appreciated, as to render the demand for house property far beyond the supply, and rents in consequence (and with the present inability to build) have advanced, and will advance considerably. It therefore behoves parties on the look out for a good investment or a re-idence in Brisbane, to watch this sale, the opportunities for making such purchases so seldom occurring.

on TUESDAY, March 1, at 11 o'clock, to the highest bidder,
The right valuable Estate and adjoining Land of that well known river side property,
WIND PERMERE,
Lot 1 contains 450 acres, moreor less, of the richest alluvial soil on the river Hunter, to which river it has a frontage of about one and a half miles. The whole of the land is cleaned, attumped, fenced, and divided in convenient peddocks—400 acres being at present under grass.

THE IMPROVEMENTS which have been made upon it (independent of fencing, clearing, and sumping.) are very considerable, and embrace, amongst others, the following:—

following:—
WINDERMERE HOUSE, which occupies a commanding eminence, and contains 13 rooms, varying in size from 14 x 12 to 28 x 17. It has front and back vernadab, with extensive cellars, which latter are used as wine vaults to the vineyard. The whole of the basement story is built of brick, the upper part of the house being weatherboard and brick nogged. The out offices are brick built and very extensive; the stable is 82 feet in length and 20 feet wide.

THERE ARE 12 COTTAGES upon the estate, varying in rize from 30 x 10. There are also various paddechs for cultivation, besides garden, and 19 ACRES OF VINEYARD, now in a high state of bearing, from the vary choicest vines. There is also still-house, with 50 gallen still, and every requisite for manafacturing wines.

THE EXTENSIVE BOILING ESTABLISHMENT is provided with every essential for doing the very large business which it has always commanded, and the buildings are very subcommanded, and the buildings are very sut-stantial.

Nors. — Windermere House, poiling establish-ment, out-offices, and land, are at present rented to Messrs. Turner and Reynolds at £225 per annum. The horse paddock is also rented to the same parties at £13 16s per annum, and the vineyard and still-house are rented to Mr. Nott at the rate of £48 per annum.

Lot 2 consists of 700 acres of first malland, a large portion of which is cleared stun ped, and fenced, and sub-divided into seven very nice farms.

The buildings known as "the Black Build."

The buildings known as "the Black Building" are upon this property, and although as in a good state of repair, are very extensive, and there is well seasoned timber on the ground, more than sufficient to make then equal to new.

The Bann and There Corraces are in good condition, and the former is an extensive building. There are also seen convenient sized paddocks upon this estate.

37 Very complete plans are at the office of the auctioneer, who can give the fullest information with reference to the estate. Messen. Allen and Son, solicitors, Elizabeth-street, will supply all information respecting tile, which is, however, first-rate.

N.B.—The above property is so well known that remark upon the above description would be superfluous; suffice it to say that the Windermere Estate is universally acknowledged to be the finest on the Hunter River, and the proprietor is most anxious that parties wishing to buy should inspect for themselves. De distance from Maitland is only seven mile.

all well trenched and planted with a variety of fruit trees and choice vines.

It was the original intention of the proprietor only to have leased this desirable property for the period he might be absent from the colony, but the uncertainty of the time of his return has is duced him to come to the determination of submitting this estate to public competition, the grand criterion of the real value of freehold property in this rising colony.

Homesteads within a moderate distance of the capital are seldom in the market, and at thence daily increasing in value: this opportunity should not therefore be overlooked by those who wish to possess an estate like the one now offered. Quit Rent redeemed.

Terms One-third cash, one-third at six months with bank interest added, and the residue can remain for a term of years upon security of the property, at six per cent.

For further particulars respecting the estate, and for cards to view, apply to the auctioneer; and with reference to title to Henry Burton Bradley, Esq., Solicitor, Lyons'-buildings, George street.
